

ANGEL GOWNS

The Knit & Natter Group has been busy, knitting ANGEL GOWNS.

Maggie first learned of this initiative through the Mothers' Union stall at an event in Birmingham Cathedral, and obtained the pattern.

The objective is to produce high-quality white knitted gowns for terminated, still-born and premature babies. The babies are dressed in the gowns to be photographed as mementoes for grieving parents. They are also used to dress the babies for burial.

The photograph shows the collection of gowns knitted by the group ready to be handed over to the Mothers' Union representative.

A sad, but rewarding, project for the knitters.

Anyone is welcome to join the group, which meet at the Church Hall every Thursday between 2.00 pm and 4.00 pm.
